TANGLEBAY
FRIENDS

5 seconds For A STAND

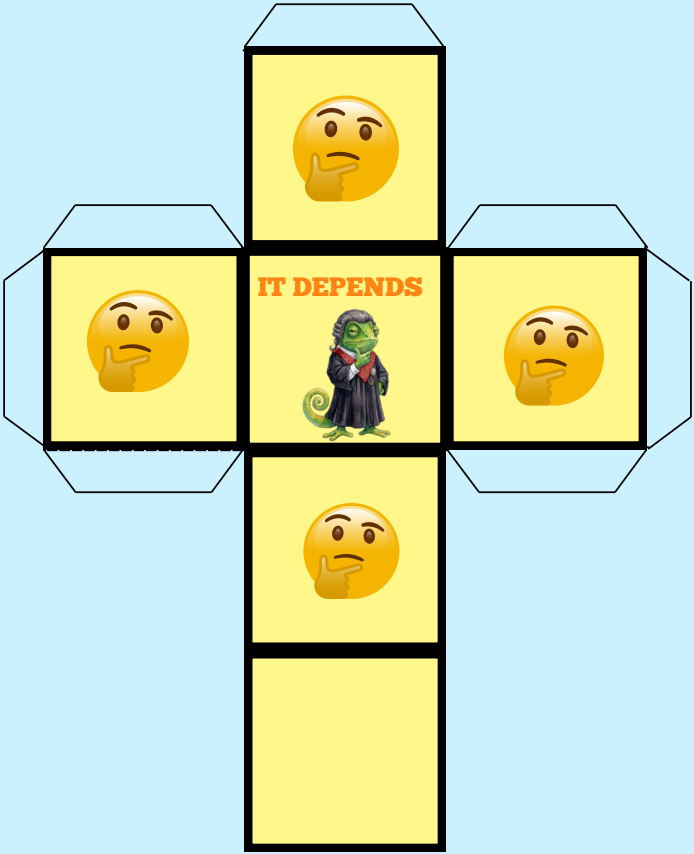

DISAGREE

AGREE

IT DEPENDS

Questions

Setup: Cut along the white dotted lines, fold up the slips, and toss them into a bowl. Players take turns drawing a random question out of the bowl to start each round!

Like Mimi, if you knew you could accidentally hurt your friends, would you isolate yourself to keep them safe?

Like Honey, would you risk getting hurt to save a friend in danger?

Like Deedee, is it okay to cry out loud if you lose something deeply precious to you?

Like Dimitri, if you were late because of something embarrassing, would you make up a more believable excuse?

Like Erica, would you act tough to hide your embarrassment after being saved?

Like Ricky, would you wait hours for a date to show up, holding out hope until the very last second?

Like Bridget, would you hide to avoid someone who has feelings for you?

Like Ricky, would you chase after a moving bus on foot if you needed to talk to someone inside?

Like Chichi, would you eavesdrop on a secret and immediately spill it to the whole town?

Like Mama Porcupine, would you tackle an intruder first and ask questions later?

Like Octena, would you tell a lie to cover for a friend, even under pressure?

Like Roctor, would you take a quick taste of someone else's food without asking first?